Fred Warning, Prominent Frankfort Resident Dies

Fred Warning, 98 years old, Ash street, Frankfort, died Wednesday, Aug. 17 at the LeSan Nursing Home in Joliet where he had been a patient for three months.

Born in Germany March 17, 1871, he came to the United States with his parents when he was 11. Since 1911 he has resided in the Frankfort area; having spent 17 years in farming.

Mr. Warning was one of the founders of the Frankfort State Bank which opened in October 1913. He served as vice president of the bank for many years.

Preceding him in death was his wife Katherine and one daughter Mrs. Fern Hunter.

Surviving are one son, Raymond, of Frankfort; one brother George of Mokena; three grandchildren and three great grandchildren.

Removal was made to the home of Mrs. Wylle and Burgess Funeral Home in Joliet where services were conducted Saturday, Aug. 20 at 2 p.m. with the Rev. James Parker of the Frankfort Methodist church officiating.

Memorial services by the Mt. Joliet Lodge No. 42 A.F. and A.M. were held Friday evening at the Funeral Home. Mr. Warning was a member of the lodge for many years.

Burial was in Pleasant Hill cemetery, Frankfort.

Bees Come, Bees Go And The Neuls Are Glad Of It

The Charles Neuls family of Mokena could be wondering if there is some mark on their premises on Bryant street that is invisible to them but for bees spells out welcome in bright, large letters.

Last year, but a little later than this, the Neuls had a visitation by bees. They came swarming in and when they gave evidence of making one of the Neul trees a home away from home, the Neuls used smoke and fire to get rid of them.

On Tuesday of last week Mrs. Neul and her son, Dennis, were doing some work in the back yard when suddenly the air was filled with flying creatures.

"Bees," Dennis gave warning, "bees coming in at 3 o'clock. Take cover."

"Roger," responded Mrs. Neuls, and the two retreated to a more protected spot until it could be ascertained if the visitors were on a peaceful mission or a bunch of crazy, mixed-up bees out on a caper.

When the invaders began closing ranks and steered for an elm tree the Neuls decided the little buzz-enundstings were simply house hunting.

Mrs. Neuls made inquiry of people in the area who keep bees and was informed -- as she was last year -- that this is too late in the season for bees to manufacture sufficient supplies for the winter even if provided with a hive and accessories.

The bees finally congregated into a ball about 10 inches in diameter, a ball, however, that no one would want to play catch with.

The Neuls and the bees entered into a tacitly understood agreement -- they let the bees alone and the bees let them alone. The Neuls had planned to say it with smoke Friday if the bees indicated they were getting set for a long visit but sometime late Wednesday the swarm took off.

They have not been reported elsewhere in the community.

Woman Dies. 6 Injured In Gougar Crash

One woman is dead and six persons injured in a two car collision at the intersection of Gougar road and U. S. 6 Monday night. One of the drivers, Edward L. Bromberg, 27, of 824 Warner ave., Lockport, is said to have failed to stop for U. S. 6 and was given a ticket by state police charging him with failure to yield right of way.

Mrs. Beulah McDowell, 54, of Metropolis, Ill., was the person fatally injured. The accident occurred about 10 o'clock Monday night and she died at Silver Cross hospital some five hours later. Mrs. McDowell was a passenger in a car driven by her son-in-law, Donald Castelman, 26, of 409 Oneida st., Joliet. Also in the car was Castelman's wife (Peggy) 22 and the Castelman's four children, Leslie, 5; Anita, 4; Dot, 2; and Mark, 10-weeks. Anita was seriously injured but the other youngsters were more fortunate. Mark was sleeping in a basket in the car when the crash came. All persons in the Castelman car were hurled out. Mark's basket was hurled into a field but without spilling him out.

Bromberg was reported seriously injured. All of the injured were taken to Silver Cross hospital.

Bromberg was quoted by state police as saying he was traveling north on Gougar road at 45 mph and applied his brakes when he saw a notice board that a stop sign was ahead. He said his car skidded on the gravel and kept on going until he was out in the highway and collided with the westbound Castelman auto. Mrs. Castelman said her husband was driving 65 mph at the time of the crash.

Mokena Firemen Respond To Two Midnight Alarms

Two midnight alarms kept Mokena's volunteer firemen busy Friday morning.

A blaze destroyed a shed and contents valued at $1,000 at the A. P. Belanger home just west of Mokena on Francis road. The other alarm took firemen to the Jesse Anderson home, 173rd and 108th ave., near Alpine. A transformer in a radio set had burned out and filled the house with smoke. No equipment was used there.

The Anderson alarm was received a few minutes before midnight Thursday night and firemen were back in time to respond to the call to the Belanger home which came in about 12:30.

By the time firemen could arrive the blaze had gained considerable headway in the shed at the rear of the premises and it was reported burned beyond repair.

Among the contents of the building which were destroyed were 22 combination aluminum screen and storm windows. The heat generated by the blaze shattered the glass in these windows and twisted the metal parts until they are useless.

Mr. Belanger reported that his loss was covered by insurance.

Italian Student Goes For Hamburger, Chicken

Edoardo Campi, 17, of Milan, Italy, arrived at Mokena, Ill., Monday afternoon and on Sept. 6 will begin a year's study at Lincoln-Way high school under the exchange student program.

To reach his Mokena Edoardo has been traveling 12 days, covering 4,000 miles by sea, and more than 1,000 miles by land.

He arrived at Chicago excited and hungry and in further demonstration that teenagers are pretty much the same wherever you find them his order for lunch should not be a surprise -- hamburger and milk.

Edoardo will make his home with the Edward Yunker family, on their farm just southeast of Mokena and Monday night when he sat down to a fried chicken dinner he beamed contentedly.

"I know I am going to like America," he said.

It was a year ago when Edoardo, who is preparing for a career in electronics, decided that he must see America. He applied for a year's study in an American school under the exchange student plan and was overjoyed when his application was approved.

Edoardo is a city boy, Milan, which is the heart of Italian industry, has steel mills, automotive works and many other industrial plants and factories. It has a population of over 2,000,000. His grandparents farm in Italy but Edoardo never saw farming country like he had on his trip from New York to Chicago and from Chicago to Mokena.

He left Milan Aug. 10 and went by train to Rotterdam in Holland where he joined approximately 900 European students who will spend the coming school year in the United States. They sailed on the S.S. Seven Seas and arrived in New York at 6 a.m. Sunday. They left New York at 2 o'clock Sunday afternoon.

The bus was scheduled to arrive in Chicago at 5:45 a.m. Monday but the stops along the way were taking longer than anticipated and word was received by the Yunkers at 1 a.m. Monday that the bus would not arrive until 10:30. It finally got in at 12:30.

Edoardo was the second passenger off the bus and was immediately greeted by Ronald Yunker, 16, who will be a junior at school this year, Mrs. Yunker, and Donald D'Amico, assistant superintendent at Lincoln-Way.

It was after 3:30 when they arrived at the Yunker farm. First delay was encountered when they found the place they had chosen to have lunch was closed on Monday and they had to look up another restaurant. Then when they had finally started for home the school station wagon in which the trip was made conked out and the group had to wait until it was repaired.

But Edoardo didn't care. He was happy to be at journey's end and in the America he has been longing to see.

Teen Bandits Rob Mokena Gas Station

Two teenage bandits held up the L. & M. service station on Wolf road, just north of Mokena, last Friday night and fled with $100 in cash and some cigarets.

The pair fled in a brown Pontiac that bore license plates that had been reported stolen at Oak Lawn.

Witnesses who caught the license number reported the affair to Mokena police authorities but no action was taken because the robbery occurred outside the village limits. Some minutes later, however, Mokena authorities reported the incident to state police.

Carl Edlund, 18, the attendant in charge, told police that the two youths drove up and asked for gas. After he had serviced the car one of them followed him into the station and drawing a revolver compelled him to lie face down on the storage room floor.

The bandit then proceeded to take the money Edlund had on his person and rifle the cash drawer in the station.

Both bandits were described as being 17 or 18 years old; both wore T-shirts. One of them was bushy-haired.

New Numbering System To Be Used On Ill. 1961 License Plates

Secretary of State Charles F. Carpenter revealed the details of the new Illinois license numbering system which will go into effect for passenger cars in 1961.

The new system is based on the recommendations of the college of engineering of the University of Illinois, which conducted the most thorough and exhaustive study of license numbering systems ever undertaken. The two-year study was made at Secretary Carpenter's request.

"With the adoption of this license numbering system, Illinois becomes, I believe, the first state to base its system on the results of scientific study, research and experimentation," Secretary Carpenter said.

"We can say with confidence that this system will offer quick and accurate identification of motor vehicles," Mr. Carpenter said.

Here is the new system:

Numbers with digits only will be retained from one thru 999,999.

Beyond that -- in other words, instead of numbers in the one, two and three millions -- the license number will be made up of two letters followed by four digits, beginning with AA 1000.

Letter-digit plates will be made up according to the following schedule:

The letter I, O and Q will not be used on any plates.

With the exception of those three letters, double letter prefixes will be available from AA thru PP, followed by four digits, from 1000 thru 9999.

Thereafter, two-letter prefixes will be available in any combination -- again omitting I, O and Q -- in which the first letter is A thru K and the second letter is A thru Y. Numbers following those combinations will be 1000 thru 9999.

In addition, two-letter prefixes will be available in which the first letter is L, M or N, and the second letter is A thru Y, except I, O, Q, R, S, U, V, W and Z. Again, the numbers following the letters will be from 1000 thru 9999.

The letter combinations BM and DL will not be available for passenger car licenses, because they will be required for vehicles in non-passenger car categories.

State-owned passenger cars will carry plates with a "U" prefix to distinguish them from vehicles owned by other units of government. This letter was chosen because it has never been used on license plates before and will, therefore, be a distinctive identification for the state vehicles. Vehicles owned by other units of government -- county, city, park board, school board, etc. -- will continue to display plates with an "M" prefix.

Scouts Plan Jamborette At Kankakee On Oct. 7-8

The second "Jamborette" to be conducted by the Rainbow Council, Boy Scouts of America, will be held on Friday and Saturday (Oct. 7-8), on a tract of land adjacent to, and owned by, the General Foods Corporation plant at Kankakee.

It is expected that over 1,000 Boy Scouts, Explorers and their Leaders will participate in the two-day encampment.

The Boy Scouts and Explorers will represent scout troops and explorer units from all parts of Rainbow council which is comprised of

Will, Grundy, and Kankakee counties.

The Jamborette will honor "Pedro" which is the organization's imaginary mascot of Boys' Life magazine.

Highlights of the Jamborette will include "Pedro's Adventure Trail" for Boy Scout Patrols. The trail will include scoutcraft skills such as: first aid, measuring, nature, ropework, and rescue skills. Patrols completing the trail will receive Pedro's Adventure Trail award.

For Explorers, there will be a Pedro's explorer tournament. Explorer units will compete in archery, trap shooting, log bucking, log rolling, caber tossing, and flag-pole raising.

Each troop and explorer unit participating in the event will construct an unusual and colorful gateway which will be erected at their campsite entrance.

Making sandwiches for a crowd or the freezer? It's easy when you set up a production line. First, set out all your ingredients in orderly fashion. Then, spread the bread slices with softened butter or margarine. Next, add the filling to half the bread. Top the sandwiches with remaining slices of bread. Finally, cut and wrap the sandwiches.

ARE YOUR WEEDS CUT?

Practically all of the communities of the area have a common problem.

All have weeds. All have ordinances calling upon property owners to keep their premises free of weeds.

And that brings one back again to the beginning --all have weeds.

The county and the several townships also have ordinances which require property owners to keep weeds down but enforcing such measures appears to be more difficult even than was enforcement of the Volstead Act in the prohibition era.

Weeds not only are unsightly but they also are a menace to health and safety.

Persons allergic to pollen suffer considerably in weed infested areas. Weeds that are permitted to grow so high they shut off views at intersections are a hazard to motorists and pedestrians.

A municipality can, and most of them do, cut weeds on parkways at intersections but sometimes the weeds are so high back of property lines that a view of traffic is still cut off.

Intersections obscured by weeds are more prevalent in rural areas than in incorporated places as a rule but in the past several years thanks to organizations like the Home Bureau, to name one, intersections in rural areas are being opened to view.

State, county and township road crews have been doing good work in keeping weeds down along right-of-ways but there are stretches, just as there are some fields and some urban lots where the condition of the ground is such that it is quite difficult, if not impossible, to get in with a mower.

We happened to be passing along near a railroad right-of-way recently when a section crew was cutting weeds. The weeds were not only tall but were thick, an inch to two inches in diameter. They were being chopped down. The crews were using thick, wide blades--slightly curved--and set in heavy handles. The men were swinging them like axes.

There are some lots in urban communities where the weeds are similar. Attempts to mow them with scythes have failed so perhaps the axe idea could be employed.

Some communities have anti-weed ordinances which provide for the work to be done by the municipality when the owner of the weed grown property fails to clear it and the cost billed against the property. In some instances such claims are recorded so they appear as liens against the real estate and so must be paid when the property is sold in order to clear title.

This could be a long wait. To us it does not seem that such a procedure should be necessary. Most property owners, thank goodness, have sufficient pride, civic mindedness, neighborliness--call it what you will--to keep themselves and their places in order.

But there are others who either are too lazy and shiftless; too slovenly; too parsimonious; too selfish or else they just don't give a hang.

There are exceptions, of course. Sometimes the owner may be ill, cannot do the work himself and is without funds to hire it done. In such cases, however, it is not difficult to arrange to have the work done.

In the final analysis there is no excuse for weed-grown lots.

On Second Thot

By GLENN F. LOGAN

This is Feel-sorry-for-yourself Week.

If some one wants to dispute this and contend there is no such week -- well, prove it! But you'll be sorry.

In the first place there is no accurate list of special days and weeks that are set aside for observance of practically anything and everything one can think of and the list is growing daily.

It would seem that one of the first acts of a press agent is to declare a special day, week or month for the product or cause he is promoting in the fond hope that it will net some free publicity.

Too often it does.

Be kind. That is the thought behind most of these promotions -- like "Be Kind to Straw Hats Week." What is really meant is be-kind-to-straw-hat -- manufacturers-wholesalers -- jobbers-and-retailers. None of them give two whoops in the hot place what is done to a hat. You can drop it in the mud or water, sit on it, jump on it, or throw it away at a ballgame. In fact they are in favor of any or all of these forms of headgear disaster because it helps them sell more hats.

The "Dogs-be-kind-to-humans Week," is another that really is a boon to owners especially those whose pooches are house old pets. The dogs seem to enjoy -- too, for a few days at least but -- an see that they would balk -- someone tried to stretch the obse -- to a month.

During this week dogs become very considerate of their folks. A pooch taken out on a leash during be-kind-to-humans-week doesn't dabble, doesn't lunge nor try to make a day or night of it. They also give up the best chair or the davenport without too much argument and some have been known to go so far as to lie on the floor.

But to return to the present, Feel-sorry-for-yourself Week, is a time for everyone to enjoy himself, or herself. This is an especially fine period for the pessimistic.

There's the person whose shoes are always to tight . . . the one who -- dabbling futility with a handkerchief -- laments that the birds sing for other people . . . the one who always gets the only pit in a cherry pie . . . the jasper who is forever trying to find green beans that are actually without strings . . . the golfer who always slices on a hole where the out-of-bounds fence is to his right or hooks if it is to his left . . . the wife whose husband arrives for dinner half an hour after the baked potatoes and the broiled steak are ready . . . the husband whose wife was to meet him at the office at 5 o'clock and comes in at 6:30 saying she was held up a few minutes . . . the loser who at long last fills a straight flush but has no stayers . . . paying federal income tax . . . paying real estate and personal property taxes . . . paying any kind of taxes . . . running out of gasoline on a country road . . . the stocks you buy go down while those purchased by nit-wits go up . . .

The field is limitless. So go ahead. Feel sorry for yourself. Tomorrow may be worse.

Coupled with Illinois' modern expressways, toll roads and the four-lane Rt. 66, are well-kept roads and streets. These roadways will take you into every nook and cranny of the state." WILLIAM F. WHITESIDE: COOK COUNTY ASSOCIATE FARM ADVISER TINKLEY PARK - KE 2-4374

By all standards, except the number of people present, the plowing contest could be judged successful. All of the plowmen did an excellent job, but Roy Bettenhausen, Orland Park, came out on top. The plowing contest has no fancy frills. Contestants are judged on the type of plowing they would be doing on their own home farms. According to Earl Matter, Plainfield, the quality of work done by our 4-H'ers has improved steadily over the years.

Our thanks to the plowing contest committee and the people who allowed us the use of the field for the contest.

In the tractor rodeo, Allen Koenig proved he had skill in guiding his tractor and attached implement through the skill driving course.

It appears homeowners are having problems with ants. To control them, use a 3% concentrate of Chlordane, or 1/2% concentrate of Dieltin. These can be sprayed along the edge of the house, also along sidewalks. Repeat the treatment in one month.

If your back yard cook-outs have uninvited guests such as shiny black beetles with four yellow spots on their back, you might wish to get a hold of some Malathion. Picnic beetles like picnics, but they can't like Malathion. Follow the instructions on the container.

Two dates to remember! As a service to farm people, the College of Agriculture at the University of Illinois will conduct a Beef Cattle Feeders' Day, Sept. 2, and an Agronomy Day Sept. 14.

Dairymen are complaining of problems with face flies on their dairy cattle. For control, use a mixture of DDVP in syrup, painted on the head of the animal. This should reduce the population considerably and free the animals of this pest.

Hints For Homeowners

The University of Illinois turf plots in Arlington Heights have again demonstrated some principles of lawn care which can be of value to homeowners.

The turf plots, located off Algonquin Road, 1/2 mile east of Arlington Heights road, were established two years ago to show what types of grass are available to be grown in this area, what kind of turf these varieties produce and what minimal care does to the turf.

The plots have not been watered artificially this year in spite of some dry periods, and the fact that some of the plots were sown only last fall. The only grass to suffer has been the Poa trivialis, a shade grass, and Astoria & Highland bent.

The grass has been cut no shorter than two inches with the exception of the bent and soya plots. Fertilizer was applied in early spring, early summer, and will again be applied in early fall. Thirty-one grass varieties and mixtures are represented. From observation of the plots the following conclusions are evident: Fall sowing, even as late as Oct. 1, is preferable to any other season. Spring sown plots did not form dense enough sod by summer to compete with weeds; summer sown plots could not stand heat and drought and dried out.

Mixtures are better than straight sown seed. They become established more quickly, and more easily resist weeds. Inexpensive mixtures germinate very rapidly and look quite well the first year. In subsequent season it becomes thinner rather than thicker. Expensive mixtures do not look as well the first season, but improve each planting. Merion blue has maintained an excellent dark green color and attractive appearance throughout the season. Bent grasses are unable to stand the heat and drought.

Zoysia is not well suited for use in our area because of the time required for it to become established. Even with extra attention it does not compete well with weeds and other grasses.

The most important single factor in maintaining a healthy turf is tall cutting. The grass should not exceed 3" in height and should not be cut shorter than 2" tall. Shorter cutting immediately results in thinning of the turf and germination of weeds.

Urge Motorists Observe School Bus Safety Rules

With the opening of school next week those riding the highways, local roads and municipal streets are urged to use extreme caution with the use of school buses.

More than one-third of all the school bus accidents occurred when the bus was hit by another vehicle, while stopped to pick up or discharge children. This continues to be a major error of drivers even though the special stop of the school bus on the pavement has been legalized and publicized for many years. When this stop is made drivers approaching the school bus from either direction must stop in all cases unless they are on the opposite bound lane of a DIVIDED highway. Drivers must carefully watch the movements of school buses at all times if these accidents are to be averted.

It was found that about equal numbers of school bus accidents occurred on three categories of road-State numbered routes, municipal streets and local roads. There were more occupants injured per injury accident on the local road accidents than in the others.

These results also suggest that school bus drivers may assume that they have many special privileges in traffic. This could well be on account of the passengers being children, the vehicle being large and distinctive looking and because of the special stopping regulation. However, the school bus enjoys no privilege over any other vehicle except for the special stops.

PIPELINERS OF ENERGY

Economy of Pipeline Transportation

Pipelines in the United States are delivering natural gas, crude oil and refined oil products over long distances at surprisingly low costs.

As an example: one gallon of gasoline can be transported by Texas Eastern's Little Big Inch products pipeline from Houston to Chicago—a distance of 1125 miles—for one cent.

The economy of pipeline transportation is one of the major reasons why natural gas and petroleum products are now supplying over half of the country's energy requirements, and why demand for this form of energy is expected almost to double during the next 20 years.

Texas Eastern's role as a pipeliner of energy is constantly being enlarged through the expansion of its 2000-mile Little Big Inch products pipeline system and its 6300-mile natural gas pipeline system.

Jane Berlin Feted By Argentines

SEMMLER NEWSPAPERS

Thursday, August 25, 1960

Miss Jane Berlin, Lincoln-Way's foreign exchange student, has been in Argentina this summer as a part of the cooperative student program. Miss Berlin was selected by the local foreign service committee to represent Lincoln-Way, and left early in June for her foster home. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Berlin of New Lenox and a member of the 1961 senior class.

Following is a letter from Miss Berlin recently received at the school:

"Before I begin my story I want to express my gratitude for what you people at Lincoln-Way have done for me. I am very thankful for this wonderful chance you have given me. Thank you very much.

"Mendoza, Argentina, is a wonderful name to me now that I have spent one month here. It is a very large picturesque city of about 300,000 people. I find it very nice here and I could never be happier. I will tell you a little of Argentina now so you can share with me these last few wonderful weeks.

"The people of Argentina have a type of cancer only it is of a man, Peron. Since Peron fled the country in 1955, the Argentines have never been happy with their government. Most of the people would like to bring him back to Argentina but it is impossible. Peron's name is written everywhere. It's on the walls of the town and in the minds of the people. I find he has left a very deep impression on these people and that they will be happy with no one else.

"My most exciting moment in Mendoza was the Snow Carnival in the mountains where I was chosen

JANE BERLIN

"Miss Snow Queen of Argentina". I think it is a wonderful thing that they gave this honor to a North American girl. I received from the people of Mendoza twenty red roses and a little fur hat and collar. No one could ever know how humble and grateful I felt that night.

"The schools here are very different from ours in the United States. It is required for all the children to go to what is called 'first school', which is comparable to our high school. Most of the students are taking thirteen subjects which they don't choose themselves. They attend classes for only four hours a day.

"The food is marvelous. It's the same as we eat in the states, only twice as much at every meal. I have gained eight pounds in just one month so for this reason I'm glad I won't be here too much longer.

"One of the things I found the most interesting were the gypsies. The women do all the work and earn all the money while the men just sit around. When the women marry they are sold to the husband by the girl's father for perhaps a thousand dollars. The amount of money depends upon the beauty of the girl. She is really more of an investment than a wife because they earn and steal up to 50 or 100 dollars a day and then give all the money to the men. They are really very rich but still they live in these dirty old tents and adobe huts.

"Mendoza is torn between the new and the old in the field of transportation. There are very few new cars because a new one costs four times as much here as in the United States. It is unheard of for a teenager to have his own car. The main mode of travel for them is the motorcycle.

"My family here in Mendoza is the best that any A.F.S.'er could ask for. I have a nineteen year old sister and an eighteen year old brother who is studying in Cordoba. We have many wonderful times together and it will be hard for me to leave them.

"I guess a person never realizes how great the United is and how much it has to offer until he leaves it. I have learned this and I think it has helped me to appreciate what I have and the opportunity I have just to live there. No one could know unless he leaves America.

"Thank you for everything."

Grand Opening

Feature 4 Model Homes At Tinley Hts.

The premiere showing of the much-awaited Tinley Heights, a new 600-home community in Tinley Park, is being held this weekend. The builder of the development is Kenneth H. Katschke, one of the leading homebuilders on Chicago's south side for many years.

Four customized, spaciouly designed models are on display, ranging in price from $14,325 to $21,300. Both ranches and bi-levels are available, with six, seven or eight rooms.

According to Edward Strles, sales manager for Tinley Heights, these homes offer many important advantages to current apartment dwellers.

Highlighting features of the area, Strles declared: "We are building here in Tinley Park because it gives the homebuyer an opportunity to enjoy a beautiful home with every convenience and without city congestion or smoke."

The community is served by both public and parochial schools, with 11 churches, playgrounds and parks in the vicinity he pointed out. New homeowners will also have village water, police and fire protection.

Rock Island commuter trains furnish transportation to Chicago.

Illustrative of the many models on display is the "Cottonwood," a 3-bedroom ranch with such features as a "family size" kitchen and thermopane patio doors.

"The Chestnut" is Tinley Heights big 8-room bi-level and offers over 1800 square feet of living space—plus a living recreation room.

Another design is "The Juniper," a distinctive 7-room bi-level with one and a half baths, a paneled foyer, finished family room and attached garage.

All homes include such items as color coordinated kitchens, built-in oven and range, range hood, colored double bowl sink, formica counter tops, wood kitchen cabinets, wood windows and oak floors. There are many distinctive touches such as chrome recessed bath fixtures, dial temperature shower controls, and lighted house numbers.

Storm and sanitary sewers have been installed.

Furnished models are open seven days a week, 10 a.m. to 9 p.m. To reach Tinley Heights take any east-west street to Harlem ave. Continue on Harlem to 167th st., Turn west two blocks to models.

Nurses Can Get Refresher Course At Silver Cross

A refresher course in nursing, beginning on Sept. 29, was announced by Silver Cross Hospital, Joliet, Illinois, this week. The program is open to all graduate professional nurses currently registered in any state. The course, conducted by the hospital in-service education program, in cooperation with the Alumnae Association, is a twelve-week course consisting of 55-60 hours of classroom theory plus clinical instruction. The course offers a review of medical, surgical, pediatric, obstetrical, and general nursing.

The program will correlate classroom theory with practical experience, and will be conducted by doctors from the medical staff of the hospital, members of the faculty of the School of Nursing, and professional people in related fields. A certificate will be issued upon completion of the course but nurses will not be obliged to work at Silver Cross hospital.

The main objective is to assist the inactive nurse to gain a feeling of security upon returning to practice of her profession, by acquainting her with new trends in nursing and nursing techniques. It is hoped that more nurses will be interested in returning to nursing, a field in which they are badly needed.

In addition to the lectures, audio-visual aids, and classroom discussions, up to date equipment will be demonstrated, and tours of the hospital will be conducted. Also, those participating in the refresher program are encouraged to attend all in-service programs scheduled for hospital personnel.

Application blanks may be obtained from Mrs. Naomi Corsini, Director of Nursing Service Education, Silver Cross hospital, Joliet, Illinois.

Well, Hurray!

The town of Mt. Tabor, N.J., recently notified that it was eligible for a shining, new, enlarged Post Office building, to be built with federal and therefore "free" money, said thanks anyway but the old one was still serving pretty well.

L-W Student Council Sees Busy Year Ahead

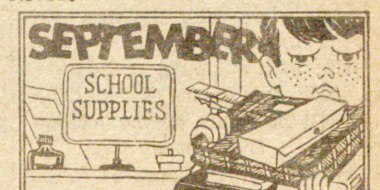

The executive committee of the student council of Lincoln-Way high school is making plans for activities and projects for the coming year.

Some of the student council members are going to serve as guides for the incoming freshmen on their first day of high school, which will be a week from today, Sept. 1.

The possibility of an exchange program with a high school of another area was discussed. Last year the council had an exchange of student council members with John Marshall high school of Rochester, Minn. The program proved worth while because of the useful exchange of ideas, a council spokesman said.

Lincoln-Way's homecoming of 1960 was also discussed. The week of Oct. 9 thru 15 has been chosen for this important week. Activities are being lined up for each day of the week. The high-lights will include a bonfire, the coronation of the queen, football game with Carl Sandburg high school, and the dance.

There are more than 50 dams on the 430-mile-long Wisconsin River.

Sept. 1, 1885—Baltimore opened the first electric street railway in the U.S.

U Of I Offers Services To Handicapped

The Division of Services for Crippled Children of the University of Illinois is the official state agency established to provide medical, surgical, corrective and other services and facilities for diagnosis, hospitalization and after-care for children who are crippled or who are suffering from conditions which lead to crippling.

Under the direction of Dr. Edward F. Lis, the DSCC has a working relationship with approximately 53 hospitals in Illinois, and including the teaching hospitals in St. Louis, Missouri. It works in cooperation with the United States Children's Bureau of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare and has an overall objective of making available all services and resources which will allow, within reasonable limits, physically handicapped children to reach adult life as happy, well-adjusted and self-sustaining individuals.

Each year, in its 280 clinics which dot the state, over 10,000 children (ranging from birth to 20 years of age) get care or treatment in some form or another. Those children accepted are (1) Orthopedic conditions including paralytic aftermaths of poliomyelitis; (2) Rheumatic fever and congenital heart defect cases; (3) Conditions of the nervous system including cerebral palsy and epilepsy; (4) Congenital and acquired defects which respond to plastic surgery; (5) Speech defects associated with organic conditions and (6) Hearing loss and deafness.

Children who are (a) under 21 (b) whose parents or guardians are living in Illinois and are in need of financial assistance to obtain proper medical care (c) who are mentally educable and (d) whose condition is such that it promises to respond favorably to medical and allied types of treatment are eligible for assistance.

Depending upon circumstances, services which may be provided by the Division are (a) Diagnosis and consultation (b) Hospitalization, including both medical and surgical care (c) Convalescent care including foster home care when advisable (d) Home follow-up services by public health nurses, physical therapists and social workers (e) Speech and hearing re-education (f) Artificial appliances such as braces, limbs and hearing aids and (g) Orthodontia.

The Division derives its operating funds from two primary sources: These are (a) state funds (b) federal funds. Whenever possible these funds are used to supplement resources of (a) the family of the patient, depending upon capability and (b) family insurance, whenever applicable.

Dr. Lis estimates that currently the DSCC spends approximately $110,000 a month for hospital care and between $10-15,000 a month for braces and other appliances. Total appropriations provided during the past year for all of the services provided include $1,670,000 in state funds and $380,000 in federal grants.

All doctors who take part in DSCC clinics or who render care in a hospital setting are specialists in their fields and many have special training and research backgrounds in particular phases of service to handicapped children. Highest standards are applied to the choice of hospitals used by this division. Modern pediatric facilities, well trained health service personnel, and approval by qualifying bodies of various national health associations are among the criteria used.

Many prominent physicians work in conjunction with the Division for the purpose of obtaining teaching material. They often travel the length and width of the state to handle clinics and service patients who may later be transferred to their own hospitals.

Among its many major endeavors, the DSCC still maintains a great concern and interest in Polio cases. Whereas the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis at one time provided nearly all of the money for state wide polio patient aid, the Division must now obtain additional funds to further provide treatment in this area.

Another prime concern of the Division is a child's personality. It recognizes that mental disturbances can be caused by a physical defect and as a result, the Division refers such cases to an applicable resource which can provide further diagnosis or treatment.

According to Dr. Lis, district offices of the University of Illinois Division of Services for Crippled Children are in: Chicago (Financial 6-2000) Rockford (Telephone 3-0488) Rock Island (Telephone 8-4300); Peoria (Telephone 3-3611); Normal (Telephone 7-1875); Urbana (Telephone 7-2441); Springfield (Telephone 3-5680); Carlinville (Ulster 4-8126); Belleville (ADams 3-5818); Olney (Telephone Express 2-5141); Mt. Vernon (Telephone 1975) and Harrisburg (Clearbrook 3-7482).

Judah P. Benjamin served at various times as attorney general, secretary of war and secretary of state in the cabinet of the Confederate States of America.

Those who make the tour are advised to meet at the William Noonan farm at 1 p.m. next Tuesday. In the event of rain the tour will be made on the following day. Details concerning the contest may be obtained thru the local auxiliaries.

Contestants may consult teachers, school superintendents, or librarians for information on source material; they may also accept help with grammar and punctuation but the ideas must be their own.

The maximum length of any composition is 1,000 words; those longer will be disqualified. Count every word, including the a's, and's and the's.

Award Trophies At Archery Tournament

BY ORLIE BUCK
Archers who gathered from far and near made a colorful scene as they assembled in the woods of the Tinley Park Archery club Sunday to compete for coveted bronze trophies.
Squeals of delight from the women and girls whose names were announced as winners in the respective classes, contrasted with the deeper voiced approval of the men and boys.
Hundreds of happy sportsmen and women spent the day in these woods with appetites as big as their hopes. Food was considered plentiful by the kitchen staff, but too early in the afternoon, that picture had changed.

While barbecued beef was the chief item on the menu, those lingering late in the day had to settle for lowly hot dogs.

A great deal of credit is due the business people of Tinley Park for their sponsoring the awarded trophies and the cooperation of the Tinley Park Times for their support. The club appreciates their help.

Following is a list of the winners and their scores:

MISS ILLINOIS CROWNS QUEEN OF HOMES

*Braun & Aldridge
Win Coveted Award*

A new "beauty queen" made her debut in Orland Park Hills when "Miss Illinois of 1960", queen of feminine pulchritude, crowned the "Miss Illinois" queen of homes.

Most queens receive only one crown but the "Miss Illinois", a new model, is the recipient of two "crowns". "She" was selected as the "Best Home for the Money in Illinois" by American Home magazine, in a contest in which "she" competed with entries by hundreds of builders throughout the state. "She" also was selected as a "Show Case" home by Owens-Corning Fiberglas Corp.

The new beauty is another award-winning home officially added by Braun & Aldridge, Inc. to their list of prize-winning California-style models in this well-established southwest suburban community.

This is the 5th award to be won by her builders - Martin H. Braun and Frank M. Aldridge - for their homes in the past year. Other honors were bestowed by Look ma-

"Congratulations" Pour In From Gov. Stratton, Others

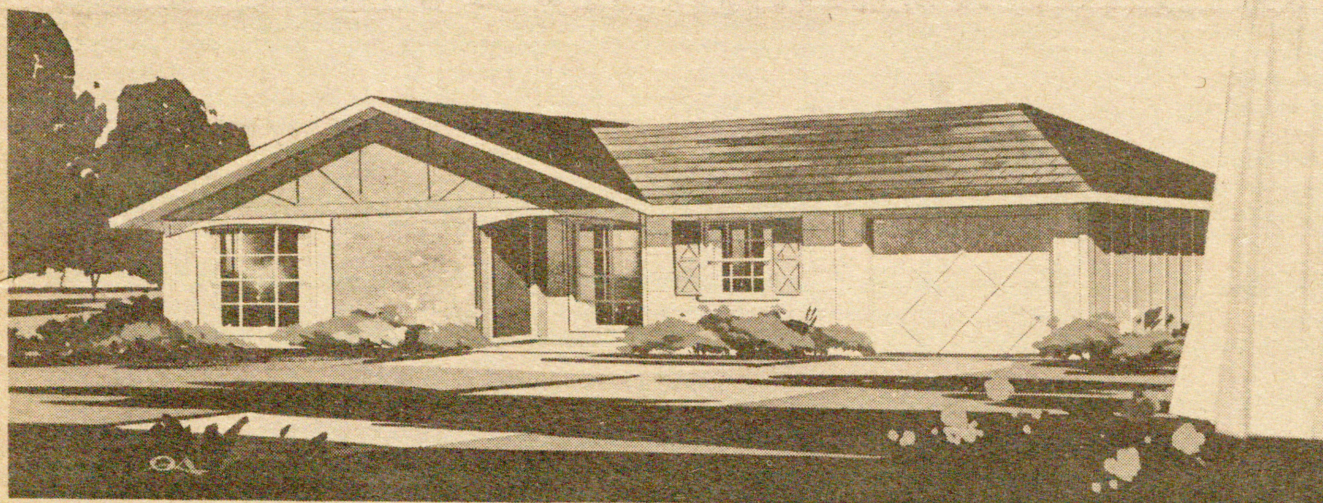

Latest honors to builders Martin H. Braun and Frank M. Aldridge, for designing and building the best home per dollar in the entire state of Illinois, brought forth a flood of congratulatory messages from the governor, civic and business leaders.

Awarded the state-wide honors for "The Best Home for the Money in Illinois" by a panel of impartial judges in the annual national analysis of home building sponsored by American Home, a leading national magazine specializing in news of homes for 12,000,000 readers the new award topped off a series of home building awards to the builders.

"Congratulations on winning Illinois home building honors..." wired Governor William G. Stratton.

From the young miss who won honors as being the most beautiful and talented in Illinois, as "Miss gazine (1st place), American Builder magazine, House & Home, and the Chicago Tribune. In the course of their combined experience of more than 50 years in architecture and home building, Braun & Aldridge also have won numerous other national and local awards. Selling for $19,950, this architect-designed, custom-built Queen of Illinois homes captured the "Best Home for the Money" title with its spaciousness, its luxurious features, and its many "firsts" and "extras" usually found only in more expensive residences.

Among the many features of this extraordinary home, with 1,565 square feet of living area, are a family room more than 20 feet in length, a 20-foot living room, separate dining room large enough for a full size dining set, "dream" kitchen, three bedrooms, two full baths, a separate entry foyer, attached garage and separate utility room.

As a "Show Case", the Queen is "Comfort Conditioned" with complete Fiberglas insulation, as are all Braun & Aldridge homes. The new model on display, constructed especially for Owens-Corning-Fiberglas Corp. as a "Show Case" home, contains many of their new products such as their new accoustical ceiling in the family room, fireproof draperies made of a new Fiberglas material in a variety of colors, a Fiberglas screened-in patio, and a bathroom equipped with overhead Polaroid lights which cast no shadow and cause no color distortion.

Like all Braun & Aldridge custom-designed homes, it includes gas or electric built-in oven and range with copper hood, exhaust fan and overhead light, genuine walnut paneling, platinum birch doors, low-velocity gas-fired perimeter baseboard heat, Fiberglas indestructible screens, luxurious baths with marble-laminate vanity and mirrored medicine cabinets framed in continuous lights, and lifetime copper plumbing.

The new model of this distinctive award-winning home with the "Show Case" features is open daily for public inspection in Orland Park Hills on 151st St., a half mile west of Route 45 (LaGrange-Manheim Rd.). In all, three new models have been added to the Avenue of Model Homes, making a total of six fabulous California-style 3 and

All Braun & Aldridge homes are available in a wide choice of designs... 189 in all. This is another version of the prize-winning "Miss Illinois", judged the "Best Home for the Money" by American Home magazine and selected as a "Show Case" home by Owens - Corning - Fiberglas Corp. Price: $19,950. Floor Plan at left.

4 bedroom models available in 189 variations, priced from $17,650 to $20,750, mostly with two full baths.

Assuring plenty of room for outdoor living are large lots improved with blacktopped streets, curbs, sewers, water and other public improvements.

Calling upon their long experience in the home building business, Braun & Aldridge have been able to channel millions of dollars of mortgage funds into Orland Park Hills. As a result, these outstanding builders-developers are in a position to offer financing with down payments as low as $490 and monthly payments of as little as $107 for principal and interest. Financing has been arranged through Home Federal Savings and Loan Association, a $200,000,000 institution.

Kitchen "luxuries", in addition to those already mentioned, include plenty of eating space ample for a 6-chair breakfast set, double-bowl sink, Formica counter top and floor-to-ceiling cabinets that are wood-grained in an exact replica of a light walnut finish. First used in Braun & Aldridge's 1959 models, the cabinets have been redesigned and used in the 1960 kitchens in even greater quantity. These newly-developed cabinets of a Fiberglas plastic are non-warping and resistant to acids, water, heat and all the other perils that beset the ordinary kitchen cupboard.

TWO OTHER MODELS ADDED

The Country Club and the Bayport are the other two new models being opened to the public at this time containing all the award-winning features included in the "Miss Illinois" model.

"Top Value" Features Won "Best Home For Money" Award

The "Miss Illinois" by Braun & Aldridge "is a good buy for many reasons" and "top value in its area", said American Home magazine in designating it "Best Home for the Money in Illinois".

For one thing, it abounds in quality features, the magazine pointed out. For another, it is in a finished community where "each site has been planted with shade trees and flowering shrubs".

Crowning feature of the house is its "beautiful front entrance which is set in for protection from the weather".

Hubbard H. Cobb, building editor of American Home, explained the "Best Home for the Money" award for the Braun & Aldridge home in terms of "total value". Cobb noted that all homes submitted were judged as much on exterior design, excellence of floor plan, quality of materials and craftsmanship, as they were on price. He suggested that a visitor to the model home will find the house an example of first rate construction.

Among the things Cobb noted were: "continuous ventilation along the ridge of the roof, Fiberglas gutters, two inches of Fiberglas insulation in side walls and four inches in ceilings, rigid perimeter insulation surrounding outside foundation walls of the entire house, aluminum combination screen and storm doors, outside entrance to the utility room (handy for service and outdoor storage), 40-gallon hot water heater (larger than usual for houses at this price)."

He also noted the use of sturdy plywood sheathing under factory-conditioned impervious tempered Masonite to insure lifetime, maintenance - free exterior wall surfaces.

Inside, Cobb called attention to large, airy rooms. He added: "A family room off the kitchen provides an excellent spot for washer and dryer. Doors leading to the outside, kitchen and garage are all located at one end of the family room so activities are not disrupted."

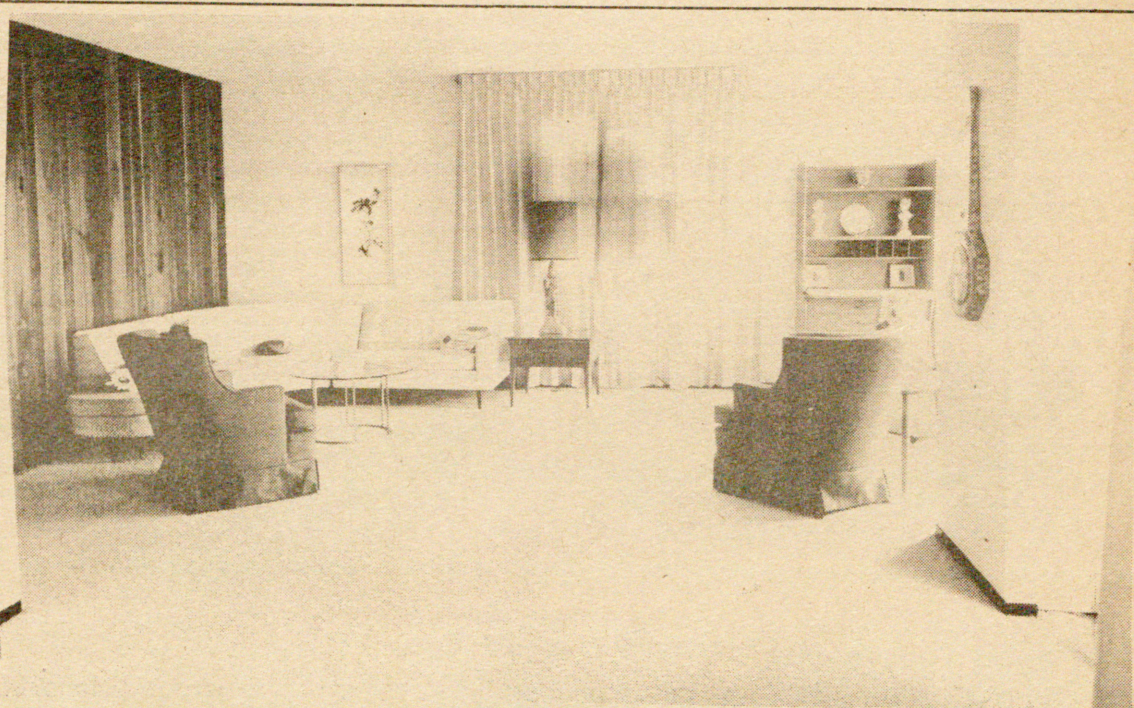

He complimented the builders on a separate front-entrance foyer with a closet, walnut paneling in the living room, interior doors of platinum birch, a "dream" kitchen, plentiful electric outlets, latest light fixtures and luxurious baths.

Cobb commented on the inclusion in the Braun & Aldridge home of four features that a few years back were considered oldfashioned but which "now are coming back because both builders and architects have found that, while many factors involved in the design and construction of a house may change, the basic requirements of the family remain pretty much the same from one generation to another."

These features are the separate dining room, the family room (once known as the sitting room), the big family kitchen, and the separate utility room.

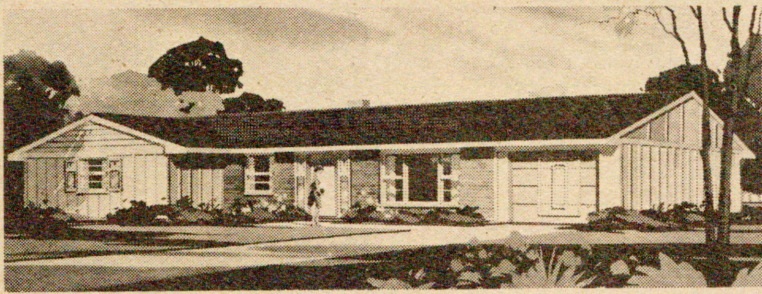

Luxury features in all Braun & Aldridge "dream" kitchens include gas or electric built-in oven and range with copper hood, exhaust fan and overhead light. Here Miss Illinois tests automatic controls which make cooking such a pleasure in a Braun & Aldridge kitchen. At left is glimpse of 6-foot sliding Thermopane doors opening onto expansive patio and garden areas.

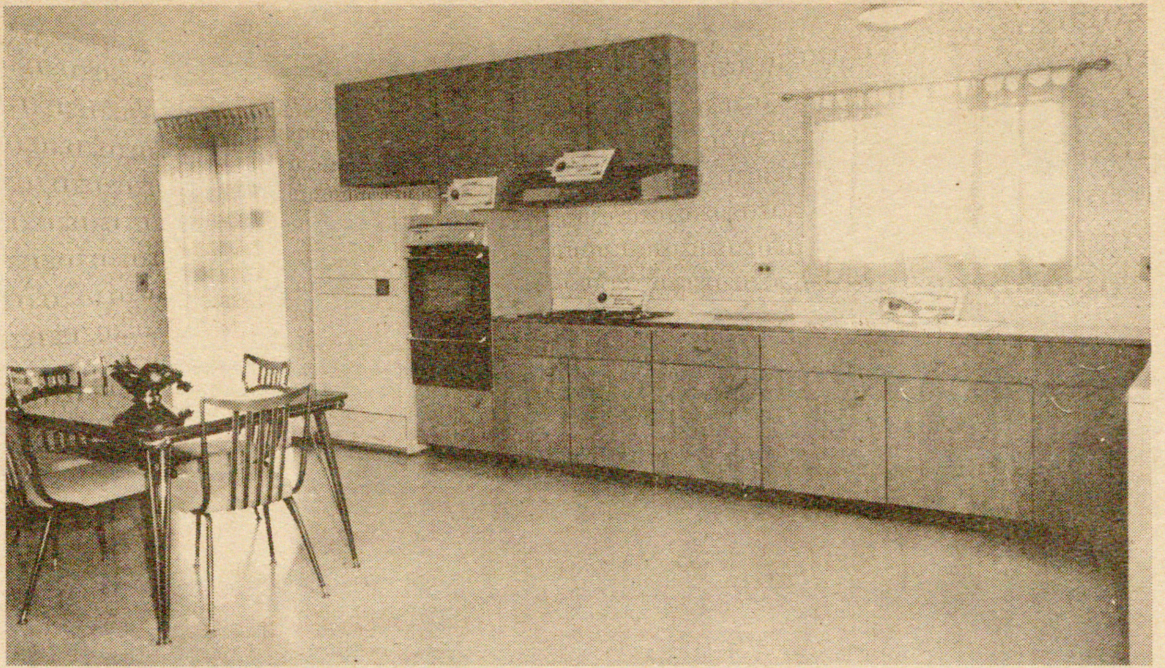

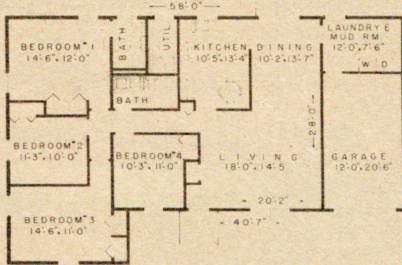

Portion of 20-foot living room in the "Miss Illinois" shows entire wall of genuine walnut paneling. Living room in Braun & Aldridge home can be reserved for formal or semi-formal occasions while family spends care-free hours in big family room.

Illinois" in the Miss America beauty contest, Pat Thompson said:

"Charming, with a beautiful styling....and most practical and modern...."

Two leading financiers commended the builders on the award.

Otto L. Preisler, president of Home Federal Savings and Loan Association, fourth largest in Illinois, said:

"Congratulations again on your latest home building achievement --Best Home for the Money in Illinois, a truly suitable award."

Then the president of the giant Continental Illinois National Bank and Trust Company, Tilden Cummings, wrote:

Congratulations on your newest and finest award..." "The Best Home for the Money in Illinois," by American Home Magazine.

The national president of the home builders trade association --Martin L. Bartling, of the National Association of Home Builders of the United States -- commented:

"Your efforts to improve the quality of homes and also reduce the price tag is obviously successful. Best wishes for continued success and more well earned awards...."

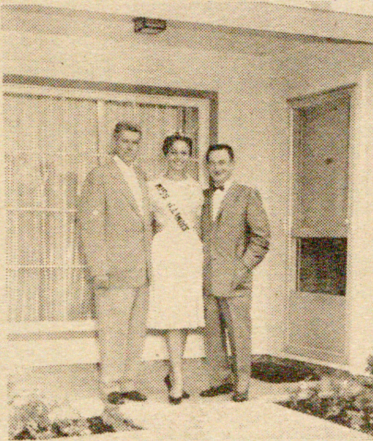

The village president of Orland Park, Mr. W. R. Schussler, Jr., when he heard of the latest award, commented:

"We not only have a fine, progressive village, but some of the finest homes in the state. This latest award bears this point out."

And what do the two builders say?

Frank Aldridge said:

"A few years ago Marty and I pooled our 50 years of building experience -- our goal was to build the finest home per dollar that could be built in this area. It makes us proud that experts have recognized our efforts."

Martin Braun, his partner, said:

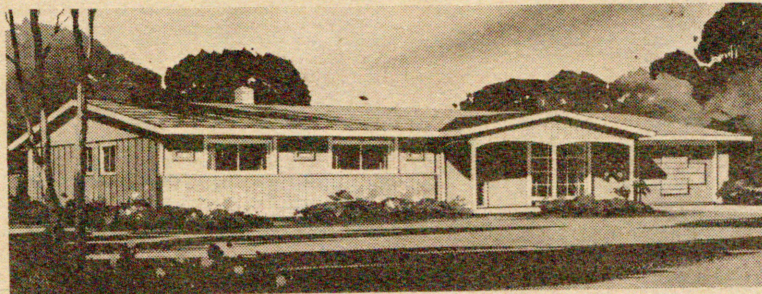

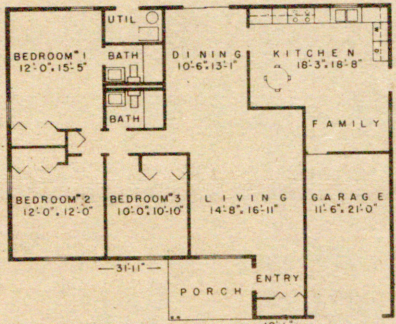

"These prize winning homes are the result of combining 50 years of experience, several conscientious efforts on our part to produce the best home for the money possible, together with continuous work to improve the home.

"We experimented. We tested our homes and improved our production methods. We got the viewpoints of people who lived in our homes, seeking ways to improve the homes. We traveled far and wide to learn the latest techniques and methods.

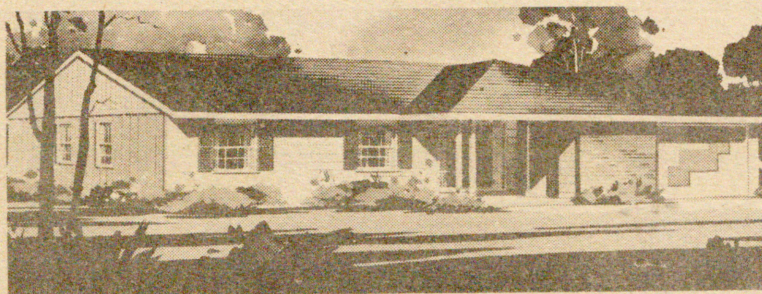

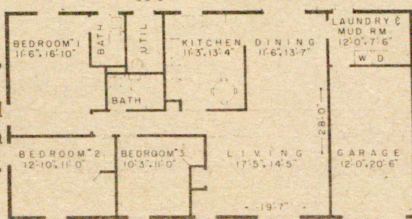

"What you see now--the "Miss Illinois" is the embodiment of these efforts."

Tinley Park Recreation Commission Formed 1944

The Tinley Park Recreation Commission was formed in 1944 by a group of interested residents in order to provide a recreation program for young people and adults.

It is composed of one certified representative from each of the civic organizations in the village.

The first meeting was held March 1944 in the Tinley Park school. The Commission is incorporated under the laws of the State of Illinois as a non-profit enterprise.

Since its formation, the Commission has grown as the village has expanded and the population has increased.

It was thru the efforts of the Recreation Commission that a centennial celebration was held in the village in October of 1945.

From the various affairs held thruout the 3-day celebration, the Commission raised enough money to make the final payment on the six-acre tract of land, known as "Memorial Park". The Commission turned the park over to the village in memory of the Tinley Park men and women who served will be crowned Friday night and reign over the festival. The two runners up for Miss Tinley Park will serve as her court.

There will be continuous entertainment thruout the four days, climaxed by a gigantic fireworks display Monday night.

In the exhibition tent will be many interesting displays, including a demonstration by ham radio fans, the Chiburban Mobileers.

The big parade will start at 2 p.m. Monday, with marching bands, patriotic units, floats, youth groups, and a variety of other marchers.

The grand prize to be awarded at the conclusion of the affair is a porto-camper, ideal for vacationers, whether they plan a lengthy or short trip.

The 4-day event will close Monday night with a gigantic fireworks display.

Refreshments will be available on the festival grounds.

All roads lead to Tinley Park during the annual Fall Festival, and this year it is expected that the event will be even better and more entertaining than previous years.

Henry Bettenhausen, the hard-working chairman invites residents in the area to climax summer fun by taking the family to the festival.

THE BIG PARADE in Tinley Park on Labor Day will have attractive floats like the one pictured here by the Lions club which was in the parade last year. The Lions club drive is still on. The drive is to sell subscriptions to the swimming pool fund which the Lions plan to have constructed in the village next year. The bathing beauties on the float are publicizing the pool. To Appear In

The Big Parade

The famous "Twirling Jewels", a group of 150 skillful baton tossers will appear in the Labor Day parade.

The girls have won many top prizes in demonstrating the art of precision drill.

In their colorful costumes of blue and white which represent a total investment of about $3,000 the baton twirlers are a top attraction at all of their parade performances.

Included in the group are about 50 girls from Tinley Park.

"One reason Americans won't go Communist is that when they hear the shout, "Workers Arise," they think it's time for the coffee break."
—Jack Wassweman.

It takes a lot of cooperative effort to produce a show like the annual fall festival, which draws thousands of people from miles around over the Labor Day weekend.

The planning goes on all year at the meetings of the Recreation Commission. No sooner are the receipts of one year's affair counted and the bills paid, when they are actively considering whether to have the same carnival group the next year or contact others, always with the thought of getting the most for the least money.

Prizes have to be selected for the various games.

The Recreation Commission, whose members represent every civic organization in the village, select committees for the various festival functions.

A crew will handle the lighting, setting up of booths and the exhibition tent.

Others will order the food for the refreshment booth. A team will take care of installing a telephone and the many other details in conjunction with the affair.

The volunteers from the civic groups will be aided by the police and fire departments in handling traffic and standing by in case of accident or fire.

Joe McCarthy, the parade marshal, has a big job lining up units and groups to march in the parade. Joe has become so adept at handling parades that his services have been requested in other towns not quite so familiar with the procedures.

Henry Bettenhausen will again this year act as festival chairman, overseeing the entire activities.

Another very busy man will be William Zimmerman, president of the Recreation Commission.

Mrs. Ruth Moore has for the past several years, acted as treasurer for the affair. She is always aided by members of the police department. Recovering now from a recent illness, it is hoped that she is well enough now to contribute her time and experience at this particular job.

In naming names, it is sometimes possible to overlook someone, but the credit cannot be given to any certain individual for the work involved and the success of Tinley's festival.

It is a community project and all who give of their time and talents are to be commended. Any who desire to help will be welcomed by the chairman.

The beauty contest will be held for the third year. The first year's winner was Miss Sandy Casey of Tinley Park who has just completed two years at DeKalb University. Sandy, it has been stated, may become an airline hostess.

Last year's winner was Miss Phyllis Cannon of Tinley Park, who is a model.

These two beautiful girls give Tinley Park much to be proud of.

Who will be the third year's winner is yet to be determined, but as the time grows closer, enthusiasm and hopes raise higher.

This is one of the most popular events at the festival. Everett Earley, who has been chairman of the beauty contest each year, has been working very hard these past few weeks. He is aided greatly by his wife, Theresa, who keeps track of the girls' name and their statistics.

As in past years, officers from the NIKE base in Orland Park will act as judges in the beauty contest, and enlisted men will be escorts for the beauty contestants.

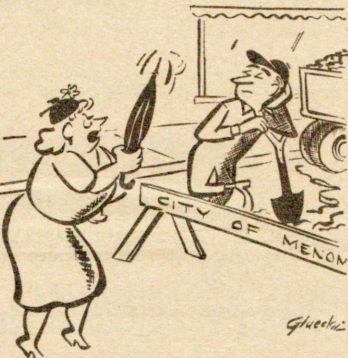

Love bloomed at the first year's contest when one of the contestants, the former Dorothy Dempsey of Midlothian met her future husband for the first time. He was her handsome escort. He is now her permanent escort since the wedding bells rang out.

Personnel from the Harvey Recruiting Station will act as judges for the parade.

TV Wrestlers Match Strength At Festival

Johnny Gilbert

Two handsome wrestlers who will appear at the fall festival are Johnny Kace and Johnny Gilbert.

Kace weighs 230 lbs. and is from Antioch. His father-in-law is Jim McMillen, former Bears football player and heavyweight wrestler.

Gilbert weighs 215 lbs. and is from Michigan City, Ind. He is one-half of the championship Midwest tag team. Both of these boys have had plenty of television exposure.

The pair should provide a thrilling match for spectators.

Dorinson. Zimmerman is president of the Recreation Commission, Bettenhausen is festival chairman, Nesci and Dorinson, ham radio operators; and Coley has been of valuable help to the committee. He drafted and set up the mailing circular which will be sent by the committee to 7400 homeowners in the area, advertising the festival.

THE QUEEN AND HER COURT chosen in the beauty contest at last year's fall festival are a sample of the beauties who will appear on the runway at this year's contest. The queen in the center, who will crown this year's queen, is Phyllis Cannon 20, of Tinley Park. A petite 5 ft. 1 inch, her measurements are 36-24-35, and she weighs 106 lbs. The second place winner was Jay Bogden, 18, of Markham, on the left. She is 5 ft. 3 inches and weighs 106 lbs. Her measurements are 34-22-34.

The third place winner was Lana Bettenhausen, 17, of Tinley Park. She is the tallest, 5 ft. 5 inches, weighs 115 lbs. and her measurements are 36-24-35. The queen holds the loving cup and long stemmed roses. Her sparkling eyes reveal her happiness at being chosen queen and the crown lies lightly on her head. She also received many other prizes donated by local merchants. The runners-up also hold their loving cups and bouquets of orchids. (Marvin Smith photo)

Jimmy James Patti Kelley

WLS Stars To Entertain

Patti and Jimmy James, a husband and wife team, are well known stars of WLS and the national barn dance show. Patsy is an excellent vocalist singing popular and folk songs, as well as being one of the best feminine guitar players in the business. She has been featured with her own band on many WLS road shows, and has played the leading clubs and hotels in the midwest. Her husband, Jimmy, is a well known comedian, and accomplished musician and composer. He plays the banjo, the guitar and trombone. Jimmy is probably known best for his authentic Italian dialect comedy routine, which has an immense audience appeal. He is also much in demand as a master of ceremonies. This act provides a complete show in itself. Both will appear during the Tinley Park fall festival.
